BUT one more week intervenes before election day rolls around, has its brief existence and is past forever. On that day the American people are to decide whether their abundant prosperity, known, real and present, is to be exchanged for an existence of things based on the promises of a party which has never yet kept a promise or faithfully fulfilled a pledge. We know that we are a prosperous and happy people, and why is a change preferable? We have faith in the good sense of American voters and believe that GROVER CLEVE-LAND and his Democratic Free-trade advisers and British allies will receive a set back from which they will not soon recover. In all probability a majority have made up their minds how their able and made known on application at votes will be cast. Those who have not should consider the matter seriously. The Democratic party wherever and whenever trusted have shown themselves incapable of business management.

States Government receives $2 20 by virtue of the McKinley Tariff. Therefore without duty it is sold for $3 per box. The consumer pays $5 20 per box. Who does the Republican party say pays this tax of 784 per cent. of landed value? THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY SAYS THE CON-SUMER PAYS this tax,

That $2 20 duty is paid for the most part by the foreigner. If it were not levied the whole $5 20 would go into the health authorities do not fear inhis pocket. Before the McKinley tin plate duty was imposed we were at the mercy of the Welsh tin plate barons, and they fleeced us to their hearts content. In those days they never sold plates for $2 90 a box, as they are now compelled to do. But many times they have run the price up to outrageously extortionate figures. Here is a single instance: In June, 1879, coke tin plates sold in New York for $5 50, more than is rumored that Mr. Cleveland will be their present price. Within two years, even, we have been shamelessly victimized by it. The Welsh Tin Plate Trust met and decided, in the language of a British trade paper's report, "to make a box of plates a rather cestly commodity" to Americans. Up went the price forthwith, months before the McKinley duty was imposed, and we had to pay it. Not until the new duty fell upon them in July, 1891. did the Weishmen relax their grip. After that they simply deducted the increase in Tariff from their selling price and placed their plates, duty paid, on our market at the old figures. Here are the facts of the case:

The boat was on her return trip to Washington, and when off Maryland Point, about fifty miles down the river, the accident happened.

Alexander Tolman and James Johnson, colored firemen, were instantly killed by flying fragments, and William Clark, a colored bootblack, was blown off the boat by the shock and drowned. Another colored man is missing, and it is feared that he met the fate of the bootblack. E, Gormond (white), an assistant engineer, was badly bruised about the head and arms. He was brought to his home in Alexandria. William Motley and William Carney, colored deck hands, were badly scalded and otherwise injured. They were brought to Washington, and are now at Providence hospital. The Wakefield was only slightly damaged, and immediately after the accident was towed to a landing at Quantico, about forty miles from Washington. The Wakefield was used at all the Potomac river landings for a distance of eighty-five miles down, but occasionally transporting passengers.

On Board a Vessel From Chinese Ports-

Two Sattors Dead.
PORT TOWNSEND. Wash., Oct. 31.-The American bark Cowlitz is lying anchored at quarantine grounds on Scow Bay and it is strongly suspected that she has the genuine Asiatic cholera on board. The vessel left the Chinese port, Tejua September 1, bound in ballast to load lumber for Port Gamble.

Seven days out one of the crew became ill, and a few days later died in convulsions. He had no sooner been buried at sea than the second mate was taken down. He died within a week. Bedding and all effects of the dead men were destroyed as soon as the vessel reached port. Health Officer Baldwin boarded the Cowlitz as soon as she arrived Saturday morning and ordered the vessel thoroughly fumigated.

The vessel had neither clearance papers nor health certificate. Capt. Miller explained the symptoms of the disease which had carried off his men, and Dr. Baldwin at once ordered the vessel into quarantine. Owing to the length of time which has elapsed since the men were first stricken, and in view of the extreme cold weather here, fection. The Cowlitz will be detained fifteen days.
